Dangers of Defective. Plumbing Defective plumbing permits the entrance into the house of sewer gas bearing germs of conagious diseases to which the human system readily succumbs.

Is Your Plumbing System Defective?

Sewer gas is not necessarily generated in the sewer, but is frequently created in the plumbing system within the house and enters the apartments through defective fixtures.

The most dangerous sewer gates are often inodorous and therefore not discovered until Ill-health renders necessary an examination of conditions, but often too late to repair the dam-

If you are in doubt, consult us regarding the piping, also the replacing of defective fixtures with "Standard" Porcelain Enameled Ware, which is acknowledged the best sanitary equipment in the world.

One of Hickman's popular young ladies who is contemplating matrimony, with the advantages which leap year gives her, was handed a testament by her father, with the leaf turned down at the following passage. "He who giveth in marriage doeth well; but he who giveth not in marriage doeth better." She immediately returned it with the following reply written underneath:

AWAY FROM HOME.

"Dear father, I am content to do well; let those do better who can."

sunset and bedtime. The moon and than the sun in a whole day's ciring images. It brings the wanderer to his home, the child to it's mother's arms, and the ox to his stall and weary laborer to his rest. But to the tender hearted youth who is thrown upon the rocks of a pitiless city, and stands "homeless among a evening brings with it an aching page. sense of loneliness and desolation, which comes down on the spirit like darkness upon the earth. In this mood his best impulses become a snare to him, and he is led estray because he is social, affectionate, sympathetic, and warm hearted. If there be a young man thus circumstanced who is a reader of this department, let us say to him that ooks are the friends of friendless and that a wisely selected library is the home of homeless. A taste for reading will always carry you to converse with those who will instruct you by their wisdom, and charm you by their wit, who soothe you when fretted, refresh you when weary, counsel you when perplexed, and sympathize with you at all times. In the middle ages evil spirits were driven away by bell, book and candle. In this age we need but two of these agents, a good book and a candle. ++

HOME ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

"Accomplishments." We like such sentiment, and we like, too, a spirit that dares speak out for the right in this over-accomplished age. A woman who fails in her home fails in all. Home is woman's realm, govern and beautify. If she fails here she may look in vain for another kingdom; for she has failed in ultimately succeeded. She has laid down the jewels which God gave her there is no evil without a remedy, and it becomes us to inquire, where is the evil and what is the cure?

A young girl loves devotedly. She takes the sacred name of wife, thoughtlessly of the responsibilities which her position involves. She marries with an honest desire to make her home a happy one, but not being clad in the armor of well drilled housekeeper, she fails. Her accomplishments lose their power; day by day she feels her utter unfitness for her station; until at last she despairs of ever making a cheer-

Is the young wife to blame? We think the fault is further back. "Just as a twig is bent the tree's inclined," but the twig cannot bend itself. If it inclines in the wrong direction the fault must be in the hand which bends it.
